BANKERS FLED TO CANADA.

Detectives Searching for President and Cashier

OF THE LOOTED BANK

Vice-President Arrested—Latest Developments of Looted Chicago Bank Show Safety Deposit Tampered With.

DEPOSITORS BESEIGE CLOSED BANK

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Theodore Stensland, vice president of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank, was arrested on a charge of violating the banking laws of the state. Earlier in the day the institution was placed in the hands of a receiver, and Paul O. Stensland, president of the bank, and father of the vice president, together with Cashier Hering, were officially declared fugitives from justice and their personal descriptions placed in the hands of the police throughout the country. This action was taken by the authorities after developments had showed that the finances of the failed institution were in a deplorable condition and had been for a number of years. Besides the discovery of many irregularities in the management of the bank, it was also found that even the safety deposit boxes owned and rented by the bank had been tampered with and rifled.

The specific charge on which Theodore Stensland was arrested was that of having accepted deposits at the bank when he knew the institution to be insolvent. The arrest was made in the office of Chief of Police Collins, where Stensland had gone to confer with the head of the police department.

Later Jacob Kern, a former state's attorney, signed bonds for $5000 for the release of Theodore Stensland. The promises held out that the elder Stensland would appear in Chicago were not fulfilled, and it is the belief of the police, based upon dispatches from several northern cities, that he has fled into Canada. Cashier Hering, sought on a similar warrant, is supposed to have reached the Dominion by another route.

The developments were productive of the first ray of hope for the depositors, who believed their savings of years had been swept away in the wreck. David R. Forgan, vice president of the First National Bank, and such of those to whom the status of the defunct bank's affairs has been laid bare, declared that probably 70 cents on the dollar would be paid in the final adjustment.

The affairs of the bank are said to be in an almost hopeless tangle, and more irregularities are being exposed as the examination continues. Mr. Stensland, it is said, loaned money to himself by the subterfuge of having employes sign the notes. Specific instances came to light during the day of the looting of safety deposit boxes. One in particular to which the attention of the police was called was that of Mrs. Lydia Herman, who declared that $150 of her funds had been taken.

Lewis Brown of Madisonburg, Breaks His Arm at Home of His Aunt.

Dismissed from the hospital at 4.10 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, convalescing from a broken leg, and back again at 5.20 with a broken arm, was the experience of Lewis Brow of Madisonburg.

On July 4th four weeks ago yesterday, Lewis Brown and his grandfather were driving to Hecla park to attend a picnic. When they attempted to cross the Central railroad at Nittany the carriage was struck by a train and Lewis had his left leg broken. He was brought to the hospital here and yesterday the leg was sufficiently healed to permit of his dismissal.

He was taken to the home of his aunt Mrs. William Bender, on Commerce street where he was to remain until Saturday. Lewis was expecting a big time and his aunt was preparing a good supper for him. He attempted to sit in a swing on the porch when his crutch slipped and he fell heavily, breaking his arm at the wrist.

He was again taken to the hospital, having been out just one hour and ten minutes. Lewis bore his new disaster like a little hero and never whimpered. Lock Haven Express.

THE TROOPS GUARD JAIL.

Have Orders to Shoot Rescuers of Mob Leaders.

MANY ARRESTS MADE

Governor of North Carolina Determined to Push Case Against Lynchers of Three Negroes, Whose Bodies Were Mutilated.

CASE HAS CAUSED GREAT EXCITEMENT.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 8.—Three companies of the North Carolina National Guard, one command from Statesville, a company of infantry and a battery of artillery from Charlotte, surround the jail at Salisbury, while sentries with loaded guns and orders to shoot to kill, patrol the four streets that flank the prison. There have been threats and rumors of threats, but there has been no demonstration—only the general feeling of disquietude and unrest. Crowds thronged the city's streets far into the night, but there is little liquor in evidence and it is believed the worst is over.

George Hall, the ex-convict from Montgomery county, who is supposed to have led the mob which lynched the three alleged murderers of the Lyerly family, is in the jail. The plan to rescue him, rumors of which caused Governor Glenn to hurry troops to Salisbury, has not materialized.

The surviving negroes, Henry Lee, George Ervin and two women, are safe in the jail at Charlotte, and there is no danger of violence to them. The special term of court which convened to try the victims of mob vengeance acting under orders from the governor, will not adjourn until every effort to convict the leaders of the mob has been exhausted.

The case is being worked up, and many arrests are expected. The governor is determined to push the matter to the bitter end. The cases against the surviving defendants against whom true bills were found were continued until the regular term of the Rowan county court.

Long before the sun rose curious persons went to the scene of the lynching and cut off the toes, the fingers and ears of the negroes, who were hung to the limb of the big tree on Henderson's base ball ground.

The bodies were badly mutilated before they were removed.

When the court was convened there was a slight diminution in the crowd, though every seat was taken. There was noticeable suffering written on the face of Judge Long. Of the men most interested here and most anxious to see the trial proceed, he had appeared to fear violence less. He felt complete disappointment.

Special excursion rates on all railroads and extra train at night have been secured for the occasion. The program is as follows:

Learn to Smile.

To the woman who wishes to make her path through life an easy and agreeable one the science of smiling is a most necessary study. Like acting, or art, or engineering. It is a thing in which only practice can make one perfect. A little theory may go a long way, but it is enough to remember these two rules:—First, the honey of a smile catches more hearts than the vinegar of a frown or the peppep of a sneer; second, it is not the mechanical beauty but the significance of the smile that makes it attractive.—Woman's Life.

THE DALE FAMILY REUNION.

Held at Oak Hall on Saturday August 4—It Was a Great Success.

The reunion of the Dale family, at Oak Hall this county on Saturday August 4, 1906, proved a grand success in every way. It is just 116 years since Christian Dale the progenitor of this branch of the Dale family came to what is now Centre county and settled in almost an unbroken wilderness where the villages of Lemont and Oak Hall now stand. His decendents now living in Centre county consisting of the fourth, fifth and sixth generations of Dales determined to celebrate the 4th of August as the anniversary of their ancestors coming into that neighborhood that being the date of the deed which conveyed to Christian Dale the lands between Oak Hall and Lemont most of which yet remain in the Dale name.

On Saturday the new and commodious Grange hall was opened for the use of persons attending the reunion and by ten o'clock the hall was filled with a happy joyous assemblage, who came from far and near determined to make the occasion a day of more than ordinary pleasure and social enjoyment. Promptly at 10 o'clock the meeting was called to order by George Dale president of the association. Rev. W. H. Dale of Cleveland, Ohio, offered an earnest prayer, after which a regular order of exercises was taken up and carried on without a moments delay. The president of the association delivered an address of welcome in which he recited many incidents of his boyhood days and his recollections of many of the older people whom he remembered but who had passed away. The welcome address was responded to by Hon. Fred Kurtz of Bellefonte. Mr. Kurtz is always at home on occasions of this kind and his response was listened to with rapt attention. Then came the historical sketch by Clement Dale, Esq., of Bellefonte who began with the arrival of Christian Dale in America in 1749 and traced one generation after the other until the present time. His address was quite lengthy but no one tired for an instant but all were sorry that more time could not be devoted to this part of the programme. The audience then adjourned for dinner which was served in a grove near the place of meeting where a feast of good things was prepared. Almost two hours was occupied with the dinner and social conversation. The meeting was reconvened in the hall at 2 o'clock when addresses were made by A. A. Dale, Esq., Rev. W. H. Dale, Williard Dale, John Dale, S. F. Dale and William Dale. These exercises were interspersed with most excellent music. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year to wit,

Geo. Dale, president;
David E. Dale, vice-president;
Dr. J. Y. Dale, secretary;
John S. Dale, assistant secretary;
Wm. J. Dale, treasurer;
Clement Dale, historian;
Rev. W. H. Dale, chaplain.
Executive Committee:
A. A. Dale, Philip S. Dale, A. W. Dale, Dr. James A. Dale, Edmund Dale.

The meeting then adjourned after deciding to hold the next reunion on Saturday August 3, 1907.

Salona Church Rededicated.

The reformed church at Salona, which has recently undergone some extensive repairs, was rededicated Sunday.

The church has been repainted outside, repapered and repainted inside and a new metallic ceiling put in. A new carpet was put down and a new furnace installed, and new lights will probably be put in.

The money had all been provided for but $300, and was easily raised at the morning service, over $400 being contributed. The services, both morning and evening, were well attended and were exceedingly interesting. Rev. Robb of Wilkinsburg preached the dedicatory sermon.

Death of Peter M. Smith.

He is survived by his widow and 14 children. The arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

Death of John Grier.

John Grier, a highly respected citizen of Lock Haven, died Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock at his home of paralysis. He was age 59 years, and is survived by his wife, four sons and two daughters. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from his late residence and was conducted by Dr. H. R. Bender.

CASTLE FOR GOVERNOR

Pennsylvania Prohibitionists Fill Vacancies.

ON THEIR STATE TICKET

Emery Defeated by 12 to 4—He Had No Chance and Pittsburg Man Was Nominated Unanimously.

PATTON FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 8.—The state executive committee of the Prohibition party filled three vacancies on the state ticket by nominating the following:

For governor—Homer L. Castle, of Pittsburg.

For lieutenant governor—H. D. Patton, of Lancaster.

For secretary of internal affairs—George Hoffman, of Montgomery county.

All are Prohibitionists.

The governorship vacancy was due to the declination of State Treasurer William H. Berry, Democrat, who was nominated by the state convention in May. The nomination for secretary of internal affairs had been declined by Elisha A. Coray, Lincoln Republican, necessitating the filling of that place.

For the governorship the name of Lewis Emery, Jr., the Lincoln-Democratic nominee, was presented, but the vote was 12 to 4 against him. Mr. Castle was then nominated unanimously.

The meeting was behind closed doors. The only persons admitted, aside from the committeemen, were State Treasurer Berry and Mr. Coray, both of whom made speeches in favor of Emery.

All the members were present except Secdetary George Hoffman, of Philadelphia, and C. W. Flower, of Venango.

This action completes the Prohibition ticket, all the candidates being straight Prohibitionists except William T. Creasy, Democrat, of Columbia, who is the fusion candidate for auditor general.

State Chairman McCalmont said that campaign headquarters would likely be opened in Pittsburg and sub-headquarters in Philadelphia, and that the most energetic and vigorous campaign in the history of the Prohibition party of this state would be conducted this fall.

"Our candidates," he added, "will be heard upon the rostrum in every county in the state, and before election day the reform forces of the state will line up for Castle, Patton, Creasy and Hoffman as offering the only real chance of freeing the state of Pennsylvania from corruption and graft. The slogan of the organization will be righteousness in candidates and platform."

Peaches Will be Plenty.

Peaches will be cheap this year as Delaware has come to the front with 2,500,00 baskets, the first of which were shipped this week. This is twice as many as has ever been grown in the Blue Hen State in any season and three times as many as last year when the crops were blasted. It is said that all prices for peaches will be 25 per cent or more lower than at the same time last year.

Death of a Little Child.

On Sunday evening at 6 o'clock William H., the seven month old son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Brown of East High street died of congestion of the brain. It was taken sick about 11 o'clock Sunday morning. He was a very bright and interesting child and his parents are heart broken the great loss they have sustained.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the Union cemetery.

Aged Woman Found Unconscious.

Mrs. Mary Harvey, widow of the late Dr. Joseph Harvey, who has lived at Mackeyville for a number of years, was found lying on the floor of her bed room Wednesday morning, in an unconscious condition. As she lived in the house alone it is not known whether she was stricken as she was retiring for the night or while getting up this morning. Mrs. Harvey is upward of 80 years of age and it is doubtful if she survives.

WOODS—FULTON.

Former Centre County Boy Weds Indiana Girl.

At the residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Fulton on South Main street Bluffton, Ind., occurred a pretty home wedding at nine o'clock Monday morning July 30th when the ceremony was performed which united their daughter, Miss Jennie Belle, to Mr. Walter E. Woods, of Pine Grove Mills, Pennsylvania.

The ceremony was witnessed only by the immediate relatives and the girls the M. C. Club, of which the bride was a member. Miss Fulton helped to receive the guests and she and Mr. Woods mingled with them until the hour for the ceremony when they went together to the appointed place in the parlor and were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Murray, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who pronounced the Presbyterian marriage ceremony. The bride was married in her traveling suit of white cloth. Following the ceremony a three course wedding breakfast was served.

The marriage unites for life two very estimable young people and they begin life's journey together with the well wishes and congratulations of a host of friends. Miss Fulton is one of Bluffton's popular society girls and a graduate of the city high school. The groom is a son of Dr. and Mrs. George Woods of Pine Grove Mills, Pa., and has a responsible position with the Wm. Wood Medical Publishing Company of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods left this morning on the 10:40 car over the traction line for Hartford City, where they will board the south bound noon train on the Lake Erie for Cincinnati, where they will reside for the present. They expect to spend the coming winter in the south to which section of the country Mr Wood's work will take him.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Leeb, of Huntingdon; A. N. Hanna, of Ft. Wayne; Miss Crystal Parks, of Hartford City; and Miss Sadie Speece, of Montpelier. The special friends of the bride, the M. C. Club girls, were Misses Martha Tribolet, Loreta Crowley, Gusta Markley, Lydia and Ada Beeler, Chloe Hiester, and Alice Wall.—Bluffton Exchange.

Who Will be Queen of the Midway.

Bellefonte in true Carnival style is to select a queen to preside over the great Carnival of Nations that will be held in the Armory during the week of August 20th to 25th. Already unusual interest has been awakened be the preliminary announcements of the great fetes that are to occur during that week, but most of all interest will probably be centered in this first attempt to select a queen from among the girls of Centre County to preside over this great amusement enterprise.

The ladies in charge have decided upon the following novel plan of selecting a queen, so that there will be no favoritism or partiality shown, it has been decided to leave it to popular vote. Voting boxes will be placed at Montgomery & Co's store, Yeager & Davis', Ceader's and Knieseley's Cigar store, where anyone can vote as many ballots as they please for any girl or woman whom they may regard as best fitted for and most deserving of the honor of being crowned queen of the Carnival. The only condition in the voting is that each ballot will cost the voter one cent. The count will be announced each week in the papers, and during the week of the Carnival it will be announced each evening. The last night of the Carnival will be crowned with the most gorgeous and thrilling spectacle of the entire weeks entertainment.

It is up to the people now if you know of some one who you would like to have as queen of the great spectacle, all you need to do is to go to any one of the ballot boxes and deposit as many votes as you like for her as they will cost you only one cent each.

That Tired Feeling.

That makes a daily burden of itself, has nothing to do with work, with mental or physical exertion, but comes from a low condition of the blood, and is therefore so serious as to demand attention.

It is always removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills, whose peculiar tonic action on the blood gives new life, new courage, strength and animation.

Take these two great medicines and you will be satisfied with the result.

L. Braisch, 921 Wolf St., Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla very effective. It removes that tired feeling and renews the vitality and strength."

Accept no substitutes for Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills, for no substitutes act like them.

HIS WIFE'S STRATEGY

By DONALD ALLEN

Copyright, 1906, by P. C. Eastment

"Martha, are you there?" called Farmer Milton from the back doorstep.

"What is it, pa?" asked his wife as she appeared with a dish in her hand.

"There's Jim Thomas coming down the road."

"Well, what of it?"

"He looks all dressed up."

"He's probably going to a dance somewhere."

"He's probably coming right here to see our Minnie."

"Then he'll have greased his boots for nothing. Minnie ain't wasting her time on no such fellows as Jim Thomas."

The farmer had more to say, but before he could say it Jim Thomas had arrived. He was a young man of twenty-five who had no particular occupation, but traded horses, helped to put up windmills and now and then acted as a piano agent.

He sat down beside the farmer, reached for his jackknife and a stick and proceeded to whittle and talk. Mrs. Milton came to the door to shake the tablecloth and gave him a nod, but during the two hours he remained he saw nothing of Minnie. He seemed much disappointed.

When he had departed the farmer entered the sitting room and said to the wife:

"Look a-here, Martha, what's the use in hurting a fellow's feelings?"

"What fellow?"

"Jim Thomas, of course. You didn't say three words to him, and Minnie didn't appear at all. It was a reg'lar snub, and I felt sorry for him."

"Then your sympathies are wasted. I want to tell you that Jim Thomas is a sneak, and if Minnie ever speaks to him again I'll box her ears, though she is going on nineteen years old."

The farmer sat down and pulled off his boots.

"Martha," he began, "I've known for two weeks that there was something up and that Minnie and you were keeping it from me. Now, then, I want to know all about it. Jim Thomas was down in the lot where I was at work today, and he had just begun to tell me that Minnie and Burt Anderson were mad at each other when Elder Davis came along and hung around so long that Jim had to go before finishing his story. You might as well tell me the whole story."

"I told you Jim was a sneak," answered the wife. "If he hadn't been there wouldn't have been any fuss between Minnie and Burt, and if he hadn't been he wouldn't have shown his face here tonight."

"This seems to be a 'tarnal nice howdydo—two folks engaged to be married and fighting like cats and dogs. What's the row about?"

"Nothing but Burt's jealousy. Minnie wrote her name in an autograph album, and Burt found it out through Jim Thomas and gave her a blowing up about it. She sassed back, and he got mad, and that's the reason he hasn't been here for the last two weeks."

"What in thunder is an aw-to-graff album?" asked the husband after thinking for a minute or two.

"It's a book that folks write their names in, and you needn't swear about it. It belonged to a summer boarder down at Scott's."

"And all she did was to write her name in it?"

"That's all, though Jim made Burt believe the fellow was struck on Minnie and said she had eyes like a sloe."

"What sort of a critter is a sloe?"

"I don't know, and I don't care, and I want to tell you that you are not to mix into this business."

"But ain't I her father, and ain't it my business to go to Burt Anderson and tell him that Minnie is a hundred times too good for him."

"No sir, it ain't! Abijah Milton, you are a thick headed man, and you are so nearsighted that you run against fences. If you had your way you'd spoil your only daughter's happiness forever. You are not going to have your way. You are going to fold your arms and keep still and let me work this thing out myself."

"By thunder, Martha, but"—

"Swearing some more! No wonder you have become afraid of lightning! Swearing won't help you, however. You have got to do as I say. If Jim Thomas comes around again you can talk about windmills all you want to, but don't talk about Minnie. If you see Burt Anderson use him just as you always have. The rest can be left to me."

"And what'll you do?" asked the husband and father.

"You wait and see. If you don't see Burt Anderson around here in less than two weeks then my name wasn't Martha Tompkins before I married you and I didn't take a prize spelling the whole school down."

"I don't see how"— But she interrupted by saying it was time to wind the clock and go to bed, and during the next ten days she resolutely refused to answer a word whenever he approached the subject. Then one evening she queried of him:

"Pa, what's Burt Anderson working at now?"

"Hoeing corn in the field alongside the pond," was the answer.

"Do you think he'll be there tomorrow?"

"Likely to be. Why?"

"Never mind why. Did our old horse Charlie ever run away?"

"Lord, no!"

"Could he run away if he wanted to?"

"He might get up a sort of hen canter."

"Suppose," continued the wife, "that the lines were to get under his heels and some one was to hit him five or six cuts with the whip, would he break into a canter?"

"I guess he would. Yes, he'd be so astonished that he would probably dust along for a few rods."

"And would he keep to the road?"

"I guess he would. What are you asking all these questions for?"

"Perhaps I'll tell you this evening. Don't bother me now, as I've got three pans of milk to skim."

Farmer Milton had no sooner left the house for the fields next morning than his wife began fixing up a crock of butter for the village grocer, while Minnie harnessed the old horse to the democrat wagon and got ready to drive to town.

"Now, then, remember what I've told you. When you come along to the cornfield keep your eyes straight in front of you and don't look around even if Burt calls to you. Just make out that you don't hear. On your way back when you get to the schoolhouse"—

"I understand," nodded the daughter.

"Don't forget the screaming part."

"No, but do you suppose?—"

"There is no supposing about it. I am your mother, and I am no spring chicken. Now go on with you."

Burt Anderson was working in the cornfield that morning within two rods of the highway when he caught the pounding of hoofs and the rattle of wheels and looked up to see Minnie Milton driving by. He dropped his hoe and opened his mouth to call, but she struck the horse with the whip as if to hurry on. He couldn't say that she saw him, but he thought she did, and the thought hardened his heart. He had forgiven her "sass" days and days ago and was ready to "make up," but this action on her part showed that she was punishing him. From then until 3 o'clock in the afternoon the young man managed to hoe about twelve hills of corn. The rest of the time was spent in sulking or sitting on the fence and looking down the village road. His waiting and sulking was rewarded at last. A mile away arose a cloud of dust kicked up by old Charlie's feet, and as it drew nearer and nearer the young man prepared to drop off the fence and hide. Minnie should not have the pleasure of flouting him again. He was on the ground when he heard a woman's screams for help. He heard the hoof beats of a horse on the gallop. He heard the clatter of a rickety old one horse wagon.

It was a runaway. Burt Anderson saw that it was the instant he got his head above the fence. It was Minnie returning home. The lines had fallen under the horse's feet, and she was standing up and swaying from side to side and screaming. There was a hero and a rescue. There were explanations. There was no apology to old Charlie, though he certainly deserved one.

"No, I'm no spring chicken!" observed farmer Milton's wife to herself as she stood at her gate and saw that Burt Anderson was driving Minnie home and that Minnie's red cheeks had come back to her.

"Say, now, but how did you manage it?" whispered the husband to the wife that evening as the two lovers had the piazza to themselves.

"Manage what?" was the reply in a puzzled voice. "Abijah Milton, you are the most thick headed man I ever saw. How did I manage it! Just as if I'd been managing something—conspiring and plotting and all that sort of thing! There are certainly times when you make a body tired!"

Hung on to the Plow.

An old English gentleman, a schoolteacher, who some years ago resided in one of the small towns of Ohio, was an agreeable teller of stories, but deemed it beyond his reputation as a raconteur to tell one that did not surpass any that had preceded it. A farmer, having come to the village, remarked in the presence of his friends that he had been plowing all the week with four horses, breaking up new ground, and dwelt upon it as being a very big thing.

"Pshaw!" said the old Englishman. "That's nothing. I have seen in England fifty yoke of oxen hitched to one plow."

The remark seemed to occasion general surprise.

"And," continued he, "the funniest part of the whole thing was that while the plow was on the top of the hill the leading yoke of oxen was on top of another hill, and the forty-nine between the plow and the leaders were suspended between the two hills. And there was another matter connected with it rather strange. In the course of the day the plowman, becoming rather careless about driving his team, ran into and split a big oak stump. The plow passed safely through the split, but before the plowman got entirely through it closed up and caught him by the coat tail."

"Did it tear his coat?" asked a person of inquiring turn.

"Not a bit of it," replied our veracious narrator. "He hung on to the plow handles and pulled out the stump."—Buffalo Times.

General Brugere Seriously Ill.

RECKONING TIME.

The Watch of the Man In the Street Is Set by the Stars.

Time is a perennially interesting subject. Before the chronometer in the jeweler's window a procession is constantly passing. The banker pulls out his $700 repeater, compares it with the chronometer and moves on. The office boy with just as much dignity consults the dollar timepiece that bulges his little waistcoat. Both are equally under the spell of time.

As most persons know, England supplies the world with that valuable but impalpable commodity, that purely arbitrary thing which we call time. The meridian of the Royal observatory at Greenwich is the point from which the day of the civilized world is reckoned, but in America the United States Naval observatory in Washington determines Greenwich time and distributes it by telegraph.

In the end the watch of the man in the street is set by the stars. Out of the vast number in the heavens there are some 600, visible either to the eye or the camera, which are known to be practically invariable. The astronomer selects one of them. Through the transit instrument—a telescope pointed at the meridian—he watches, telegraphic key in hand. On the lens of the telescope are eleven hair lines. The center one marks the meridian. As the star crosses each of these lines the operator presses his key, the wires of which connect with an automatic recording clock called a chronograph.

This shows at what time the star crossed the meridian. Astronomical tables determine the time at which it should have crossed. Comparison of the standard clock with these tables shows whether or not the clock is right.

The time is distributed at noon. Three minutes before 12 o'clock thousands of telegraph operators sit in silence waiting for the click of the key which shall tell them that the "master clock" in Washington has begun to speak. At one minute before 12 it begins, beating every second until the fifty-fifth. Then, after the pause, comes a single beat, which marks exact noon, and for another day the world knows that it has the correct time to the fraction of a second.—Youth's Companion.

Football In Burma.

"Chinlon," the Burmese form of football, is the national game. The name means "round basket," writes Mr. Kelly in his book on Burma, and the chinlon is really a ball about six inches in diameter formed of plaited rattans. The game is played by several youths or men, who stand in a circle a few feet apart. The ball having been thrown into play, the one nearest to whom it falls kicks it up into the air with the instep, knee or side of the foot. The effort is to keep it in the air as long as possible and without losing possession of the ball. A fancy stroke is to turn about face as the ball falls and kick it with the sole of the foot, although the elbows, head or any part of the body except hand and toes may be used. While playing no one leaves his place, but waits until the ball falls within his reach, when he in turn endeavors to retain its possession. It is a very pretty game to watch, and the skill of the performers is often surprising.

The Smallest Screws.

The smallest screws ever made are used in the manufacture of the miniature watches which are sometimes fitted in rings, shirt studs, bracelets, etc. They are the next thing to being invisible to the naked eye, looking like minute grains of sand. With a good glass, however, it may be plainly seen that each is a perfect screw, having a number of threads equal to 1,200 to the inch. These tiny screws are four one-thousandths of an inch in diameter and seven one-thousandths of an inch in length. It is estimated that a lady's thimble of average size would hold 100,000 of them. No attempt is ever made to count these "tiny triumphs of mechanical ingenuity" other than to get a basis for estimation. The method usually pursued in determining their number is to carefully count 100 and then place them on a delicate balance, the number of a given amount being determined by the weight of these.

Cars For Man and Beast.

From Salzburg you go to Munich. While traveling through the mountains of Bavaria you drop suddenly from the sublime to the ridiculous by catching a glimpse of a car bearing a label of which this is the translation:

"For thirty-two men or six horses."

On inquiry you learn that the Bavarian railroads run fourth class cars, on which the very poor may travel for a trifle or which may be used at the option of the railroad to transport equine freight. Later you have an opportunity to inspect some of these fourth class cars, and you find them to be similar to our own freight cars, although much smaller. Plain wooden benches form the seats, which may be removed to accommodate the live stock. Most of the European freight cars and many of the passenger cars have only four wheels and look like toy affairs compared to our own.—Chicago Post.

Just Like Him.

Arthur—You think I don't love you darling? Why, I would die for you Arethusa—Yes, and it would be just like you to do it so that your funeral would come on a day when I had to give up a real nice engagement to attend it. Oh, you men are so selfish!

PICTURE ON A HILL.

The Long Man of Wilmington, England, Measures 240 Feet.

About midway between Berwick and Polegate stations, at a point where the side of the hill is very precipitous, those who know exactly the spot where to look will be able to see from the railway carriage windows a sort of rude imitation of the human form outlined in white. The figure, which is between 200 and 300 feet in height, holds a long staff in each hand. This is the "Long Man of Wilmington," once the center of profound veneration and worship, but now merely an object of interest to the curious.

In order to obtain an adequate idea of this great hillside figure, dominating the surrounding country and appearing to watch as guardian over the little village below, it is desirable to approach it afoot, tramping along the winding lanes, as the pilgrims of old must have tramped when they came hither on the occasion of some great religious festival. Seen from afar, the figure does not appear to be of remarkable size, but gradually as one approaches the hill it assumes an imposing and definite shape.

The figure, about 240 feet in height, was merely shaped in the turf so as to allow the chair to appear through. In the course of time these depressions in the surface became almost imperceptible, and to such an extent was the figure neglected that at last it was only possible to make out the form at a distance when the slight hollows were marked by drifted snow or when the oblique rays of the rising or setting sun threw them into a deep shadow. In order to preserve the form of the Long Man, and to render it at the same time easily distinguishable at a distance the outline was marked by a single line of white bricks placed closely together. The effect has been to produce a somewhat startling figure, which is plainly visible in fine weather from a great distance.

There are in different parts of the country other examples of extremely rude and early hillside figures, and, although the very fact of their great antiquity renders it unlikely that historical or documentary evidence will be forthcoming as to their design or precise purpose, it is very satisfactory to find that an explanation has been found which will at once account for many of their peculiarities.

The theory is that these are sacrificial figures. We learn from the writings of Caesar that the Gauls (and the Britons were doubtless included) had figures of vast size, the limbs of which, formed of osiers, they filled with living men. The figure was ultimately fired, and the miserable victims perished in the flames.

There is a local saying in Sussex, probably of great antiquity, in which the Long Man is mentioned in reference to the weather. It runs:

When Firle hill and Long Man has a cap
We at A'ston gets a drap.

THE NATIONAL FLAG.

No Possession of a Country More Loyally Loved and Revered.

There is no possession of a country which is more deeply revered, more consistently loved or more loyally supported than its national flag. In our country is this especially true, for in that one emblem are embodied all the principles which our forefathers upheld, all the benefits of a century and a quarter of enlightened progress and all the hope and assurance of a promising future.

The stripes of alternate red and white proclaim the original union of thirteen states to maintain the Declaration of Independence. Its stars, white on a field of blue, proclaim that union of states constituting our national constellation which receives a new star with every state. Thus the stars and stripes signify union and "in union there is strength."

The very colors have a significance. White stands for purity, red for valor and blue for justice, together forming a combination which it is our inherited privilege to honor and uphold.

It is not the flag of a king or an emperor or a president. It is the flag of the people, brought into being by their will, defended when necessary by their patriotism and to which they turn for protection in time of danger. No matter into what parties our people may be divided, due to political beliefs and leanings, they all stand united under one flag. It is the emblem of unity, safety and faith.—St. Nicholas.

Word Fashions.

The history of the word asparagus shows how, even in the days of dictionaries, word fashions change. In the eighteenth century, even in elegant usage, the delicacy was regularly called "sparrow grass." A dictionary of 1791 says that "sparrow grass" is now so general that "asparagus" has an air of stiffness and pedantry. "Sperage" had been the usual English form in the sixteenth century, but in the seventeenth herbalists brought back the original Greek and Latin spelling "asparagus." Pepys varies between "sparrow grass," "sparagus" and "sparague." No doubt the eighteenth century relapse was the last, and the "a" is back for good now.

Hogs and Storms.

Hogs are always more restless than usual on the approach of bad weather, and when these animals run to and fro with mouthfuls of straw, leaves or branches the indication is for very foul weather. In their native state pigs probably made their own beds, and when bad weather was coming perhaps gathered a larger supply of straw or leaves than usual to serve as a protection against the rain.

TO SAVE DROWNING.

State Health Commissioner Dixon Gives Rules for Resuscitation.

Many persons have been saved from death by drowning after life was apparently extinguished because some one was at hand who knew what to do at once and did it. State Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon told simply and briefly recently the progress of resuscitation from drowning.

"Restore breathing and restore and maintain body heat. These are two essential things to do at once and of course the breathing comes first. Loosen or cut apart all neck and wrist bands so as to remove obstructions to breathing. Don't bother with taking off any of the wet clothing at this point. You might lose precious time and a moment's delay in restoring breathing may prove fatal.

"Turn the patient on his face with the head lower than the body, grasping the body around the middle, raise it as far as you can without lifting the head from the ground. Give the body a jerk to remove the mucous from the throat and the water from the wind-pipe. Hold the body suspended, slowly count one, two, three, and then repeat the jerk more gently two or three times.

"This getting rid of the water and the mucous is the first thing to be done toward the restoration of breathing. Now place the body on the ground again face downward, and, standing astride the body and holding it by the points of the shoulders, raise the chest as high as you can, without lifting the head from th ground, hold it there enough to counc slowly one, two, three. Replace the body on the ground with the forehead resting on the arm that has been bent at the elbow. The neck should be straightened out and the nose and mouth be free from contact with the arm so as take in air.

"Placing your elbows against your knees so as to gain a leverage press downward and inwards with increasing force against the sides of the victim's chest, and over the ribs long enough to count three slowly, then let go suddenly. Grasp the shoulders as before and raise the chest, remembering to leave the forehead resting on the ground and press upon the ribs as before. Replace the body on the ground, press downward and inward against the sides of the chest, let go suddenly, and grasping the shoulders, raise the chest and press upon the ribs. These alternate movements should be repeated for an hour at least at the rate of ten to fifteen times a minute unless breathing is restored sooner. These movements should be accomplished with regularity as in natural breathing.

"When breathing has commenced then the thing to do immediately afterwards is to restore the body heat. Warm blankets should be wrapped about the body and bottles of hot water or hot bricks applied. The head should be warmed nearly as fast as the body, or else convulsions may result. Rubbing the hand vigorously with the hand, or slapping the fleshy parts, may assist in restoring warmth.

"As soon as the patient can swallow give hot coffe, tea or milk. Beware of giving too much spirit or depression may result. Get the patient in a warm bed and have plenty of fresh air."

LABOR UNIONS IN POLITICS

American Federation Exhorts Members to Elect Their Friends.

Washington, July 23.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor made good its declaration of several months ago to enter the field of politics in the interest of the trade union movement, and to exhort all members and friends of organized labor to work for the election to political office of men known to be favorable to labor's cause. From the headquarters of the federation the council issued its "campaign program," addressed to all organized labor and friends in the United States. It sets out that the trade union movement has kept and proposes to keep pace with the rapid changes in industrial affairs, and that the working people cannot hope to maintain their rights or a progressive position in the varying phases of modern society unless they organize "and exercise all those functions which, as workmen and citizens, it is their privilege and their duty to exercise."

It is declared that labor makes no demand upon government or society which is not equally accorded to all the people of this country, and that "it can and will be satisfied with nothing less."

The proposed campaign is based upon the allegation that little attention has been paid to the enactment of laws prepared by organized labor and presented to congress, "for the relief of those wrongs and the attainment of those rights of which labor and the common people are justly entitled and which are essentially necessary for their welfare.

The council issues a word of caution that the movement must not degenerate into a scramble for office, but "it should be a determined effort, free absolutely from partisanship of every name and character, to secure the legislation we deem necessary and essential to the welfare and happiness of all our people." It is expressly stated that "where a congressman or state legislator has proven himself a true friend to the rights of labor, he should be supported and no candidate nominated against him."

EXPLOSION KILLS FOUR

Powder and Dynamite House Near Robertsdale, Pa., Blown Up.

Mount Union, Pa., July 24.—Four men were killed and five injured in an explosion in the powder and dynamite house belonging to Jesse O. McClain near Robertsdale, Huntingdon county. The dead are: Milton Rohrer, of Faltville, Pa.; Jefferson Ryan, Robertsdale; Edward Alloway, Robertsdale; Alexander Miller, Faltville.

The injured are: Daniel Black, Woodvale; James Hayes, Robertsdale; Charles Clunt, Pogue; H. F. Arnold, Woodvale; Milton Ramsey, Robertsdale.

The magazine was situated half way between Robertsdale and Woodvale, the southern terminus of the East Broad Top railroad, and from it the miners daily obtained the necessary explosives for use in the mines.

A number of the miners went into the powder house and a moment later the whole place was blown to pieces. The cause of the explosion is unknown but it is supposed that one of the men who entered the building was smoking and through carlessness ignited the powder.

WON'T ARREST ROCKEFELLER

Attorney Guarantees His Appearance In Court At Findlay, O.

Findlay, O., July 24.—No attempt will be made to arrest John D. Rockefeller when he lands in New York next Saturday. Attorney Troup, of Bowling Green, O., representing Mr. Rockefeller, was here and secured the permission of Prosecutor David and Probate Judge Banker to enter Rockefeller's appearance in the latter's court, and this was accordingly done. Sheriff Groves still has the warrant, but on account of the turn of events will not attempt to serve it. The warrant was issued recently upon an information filed by Prosecutor David charging Mr Rockefeller and the Standard Oil company with alleged violations of the Valentine anti-trust law.

It is believed they failed to hear the approaching train.

Sharks Devour Bather's Body.

It is the belief of officials that the body of the unfortunate young man has been devoured by sharks.

Harris, white, and Tave Newby, a negro, were those taken from the wreck by the volunteer crew under the command of Richard Tyler, a negro.

Will Test Meat Inspection Law.

Fargo, N. D., July 24. — Manager Sirrs, of the Fargo branch of Armour & Co., packers, charged with selling "unwholesome and putrid" meat, was fined $50 by Judge Ryan. The court stated that the evident desire of both parties seemed to be to test the constitutionality of the meat inspection law and imposed the fine, so that an appeal could be taken and a higher court pass on its validity.

Denver's First Stagecoach.

On the 17th of May, 1859, Denver turned out to welcome the first through coach of what was destined to grow into the "Overland Mail," an enterprise which for sheer American pluck and daring must be forever linked with the fame of the "Pony Express." Red shirts drifted to the outskirts of the hamlet and dotted the hills around. Hard faced bartenders made ready for the "hottest night that ever tore the camp loose." The artillery of holster and saddle boot was unlimbered for an ecstatic fusillade. There was lively betting in dust and nuggets that the first through stage had been gathered in by Indians, with takers as eager to stake their faith that the scalps of driver and guard would come through intact. At length a swirl of dust showed far down the trail. It grew into a yellow cloud that crept toward the eager hamlet. Then six mules, stretched out on the gallop, emerged from this curtain, and behind them was the lumbering, swaying stage, come safely through on time, and Denver was in touch with the world where men wore white shirts and lived in real houses. The cheers that roared a welcome to this heroic enterprise were echoed in every western town which hoped and longed for a link of its own with the home country, "way back east."—Outing Magazine.

The Polite Burman.

In the cities of Burma, where the natives have been long in contact with Europeans, says the author of "Burma, Painted and Described," they have lost some of their traditional politeness, but in the country districts old school courtesy is still the custom. An English gentleman who had bought a new pony was trying him out on a Burman road when the animal bolted and ran at top speed down a narrow road. In the way ahead was a native cart, in which was a family party out holiday making. The pony dashed into the back of the cart, threw his rider into the midst of the merrymakers and severely injured the Burman who was driving. Before the Englishman had an opportunity to explain his unexpected onslaught the Burman picked himself up and bowed low. "My lord, my lord," he said apologetically, "my cart should not have been there."

Inherited Memories.

A writer in the Nineteenth Century tells a strange story of "inherited memories." The ruins of an ancient Roman fortress rise from the grounds of a Mr. Phillips. A clergyman called upon the owner one day and asked to see the ruins. "He told me he had a distinct recollection of living there and that he held some office of a priestly nature in the days of the Roman occupation," said Mr. Phillips. "One fact struck me as significant. He insisted on examining a ruined tower which had bodily overturned. 'There used to be a socket in the top of it,' he went on, 'in which we used to plant a mast, and archers used to be hauled to the top in a basket protected with leather, from which they picked off the leaders among the ancient Gorlestonians.' We found the socket he had indicated."

The Cruelty of Swans as Displayed Toward Other Fowls.

The graceful swan is one of the most ungracious in its ways. Not only (in the breeding season) does a male bird resent the intrusion of a strange gentleman, but it will spend the day in driving off from its domain any unlucky geese which might be plainly assumed to have no designs upon its domestic arrangements and have, indeed, no desire beyond that for a comfortable wash and swim. It will also pursue even the most innocent of newborn ducklings while they unwittingly rejoice in an early taste of their common element.

When an only child has passed out of the cygnet stage of life and grown to full physical if not mental maturity father and mother swans have been known to fall upon and deliberately beat it to death with wing and beak. The gratified parents swam gracefully about the mere in which they lived while the great white corpse of their son lay battered and dead upon the shore. The following year, after another had been born to them and in infancy carried upon his mother's back, they began to treat him so roughly that, not being pinioned like them, he wisely flew away, and we saw him no more. Curiously enough, geese which have experienced rudeness from swans in the lusty spring have been known to retaliate in the calmer autumn, when the fierceness of their enemy had become mitigated. I have seen a gander leap upon the back of a once arrogant swan and pound away at it in the full enjoyment of gratified revenge.—Cornhill Magazine.

ROOSEVELT TO HUNT DEER

May Make a Trip After Minnesota Game In November.

Minneapolis, July 14.—While it has been announced that the president would not make a western trip before 1907, it was learned that he had made a conditional promise to go deer hunting next November in Minnesota with John A. Greenway, range superintendent of the United States steel company mines on the Mesaba. Headquarters will be made Bovey, Minn., which is in a country abounding in big game. Mr. Greenway is a warm personal friend of the president, having served in the Rough Riders. Before that he was Yale football star.

Sheriff Beaten to Death By Italians.

LaCrosse, Wis., July 14. — Deputy Sheriff Hammil, of Pierce county, Wis., was killed and City Marshal Isaacs, of Prescott, Wis., was seriously injured by Italian laborers near Prescott. Hammil and Isaacs went among 50 Italians employed in track work on the Burlington railroad and served warrants on several men wanted for violations of the Wisconsin game laws. Six of the Italians attacked the officers with shovels, beating Hammil to death and wounding Isaacs so badly that he was left for dead. The assailants of the officers escaped. Posses are in pursuit. Marshal Isaacs is expected to recover.

Fashion's Echoes.

Buttons are a favorite trimming detail and some are of rare beauty.

Gun metal gray ranks among favorite hues in spite of the fact that it does not seem a very cheerful winter color.

Braid is used upon any material and frequently in combination with other trimmings. A bit of black, white or gold braid is introduced on nearly all smart street toilets.

French lingerie hats are very smart for evening wear and sometimes almost priceless.

Very high straight turnover linen collars are the smart wear with the rigid tailor mades.

Satin striped gauze is the latest thing for dinner gowns.

Chenille bands and cords are effectively used on cloth dresses.

The growing vogue for harmony in colors has attacked my lady's umbrella. Now she must carry a full twenty-six inch silk umbrella to match her street costume.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy Will Bring the Utmost Relief that Medicine Can.

The one remedy which many physicians rely upon to free the system of the Rheumatic Poisons which are the cause of all Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, is DR. SHOOP'S RHEUMATIC REMEDY. STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. G. G. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

¶In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. ¶We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. ¶We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. ¶New trial bottles, 25c.; regular size, 75c. EDITORIAL.

"Rev. Swallow's knowledge of practical politics ought to tell him that either Mr. Emery or Senator Penrose will be govenor of Pennsylvania. And it looks though the reverend gentleman is quite willing that the "Boy" shall maintain his hold on the state.

DEMOCRATS AND EMERY.

Indications have already begun to multiply that Emery will be far from receiving the solid Democratic vote of the state at the coming election. In all parts of the state Democrats are repudiating him, many of them declaring that if they must vote for a Republican, they will vote for the regular Republican nominee, Stuart's candidacy appealing to them as Emery's does not. A democrat as a rule adheres to his party because he believes its principles are right and he would rather go down to defeat with a man who stands for a principle and a party than to win with a mugwump, representing himself only. Such is the view taken by Mayor J. C. McKinney of Titusville, a lifelong Democrat, who among other things says:

"Lewis Emery, Jr., has never been, and is not now, a Democrat in name nor principle. For over thirty years he has been the outspoken opponent of Democratic doctrines and measures, save in a few instances when self-interest dictated a temporary and seeming allegiance. His who political career has been marked by a distinctly personal and selfish ambition. Men and principles have sunk before the will of the wisp of his aim for self-distinction. When he could not win, he would try to ruin. To the most casual observer the focus of his public activity is this—Emery, first, last and all the time.

"In 1900 he wanted to go to Congress from the Twenty-seventh district: He was endorsed by the Democrats of that district, but the disillusionment came swiftly and crushingly with his defeat. The searching light of publicity quickly discovered his motives and as rapidly repudiated them.

"The result of the coming fall election will be the same. I cannot believe that the great Democratic electorate in this State will be deceived into the support of a man who represents neither Democracy nor Republicanism, both himself only. Emery is a Democrat as Wanamaker was a Republican—for self and spite-venting only. The Democrats of the State are not, in my opinion, going to swallow an Emery-Wanamaker sugar-coated pill any more than they did the pill offered them when Horace Greely was endorsed for President in 1872 by a misguided convention."

These are without doubt the sentiments of a vast majority of Democrats. Some of them will vote for Emery, while many of them will remain away from the polls on election day.

SHOT AND KILLED HIS FATHER

Boys' Gun Exploded As He Tried to Extract Cartridge.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 8.—Joseph B Hench, of Juniata township, Perry county, four miles from Newport, was shot in the heart and killed by his 8 year-old son. The boy had been shooting at a target with a Flobert rifle, and approaching where his father was standing in a stooping position, tried to take a cartridge which had become jammed from his gun. As he did so the weapon was exploded and the shot entered his father's breast, killing him instantly.

The boy is nearly distracted with grief and refuses to be comforted. Only a few minutes before the shooting he had welcomed his father home from Bloomfield, where he had been attending court all day.

PENNSY TO LAY OFF 280 MEN

Dismiss Them When Low Grade Between Harrisburg and Atglen Opens.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 8.—It is reported here that the Pennsylvania Railroad company contemplates the dismissal of 280 men in Harrisburg and Columbia after the opening of the new low grade line between this city and Atglen. These men will be notified that they will be no longer needed, will be given what money is due them and allowed to seek positions elsewhere. Their names will be retained and they will be taken back as rapidly as the company finds need of their services, if they desire to again enter the employ of the company.

Bride and Groom Killed.

St. Joseph, Mich., Aug. 8.—Hiram B. Helmick and his bride of two weeks, while driving from Benton Harbor to St. Joseph, were ground to pieces beneath the wheels of an electric car which struck the runabout in which they were driving. Mrs. Helmick was instantly killed, while Mr. Helmick lived for a few moments, although literally wrapped about the wheels of his rig. A dozen physicians were summoned, but Helmick was dead before they arrived.

Violated the Eight-Hour Law.

Washington, Aug. 8.—The cases involving alleged violation of section 892, of the code of the District of Columbia, known as the eight-hour law, were disposed of in the United States branch of the police court, when the Penn Bridge company and the District Construction company entered pleas of guilty and were fined $25 each. There were three cases against the Penn Bridge company and two against the District Construction company. Promises were made that the offense would not be repeated.

Woman Sentenced to Hang.

Stockton, Cal., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Emma LeDoux was sentenced to be hanged October 19 next on her conviction of the murder of Albert H. McVickar, a miner with whom she had been living. The case will be appealed.

HARTJE CASE ENDS

Judge's Decision Will Not Be Given Until Late In Fall.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 8.—The now famous divorce trial of Augustus Hartje has been closed. With a brief and impassioned address by Attorney J. Scott Ferguson the curtain dropped, but not before Mr. Ferguson's word was declared to be false in open court by Attorney John M. Freeman, senior counsel for Mrs. Hartje, the respondent.

At the close of Mr. Ferguson's brief argument Mr. Freeman advanced to the rail and said that he wanted to correct Mr. Ferguson's account of a conference in Attorney Watson's office.

"What you say took place did not take place," he shouted at Mr. Ferguson, who colored and cried out:

"That's a matter of veracity between us. I'll put my word against yours any day."

"Gentlemen, we can't permit this," said Judge Fraser, and this incident closed the trial.

As Judge Fraser stepped down from the bench he said: "I'm glad it's over. When this case started I thought it would take no longer than a week. I had no idea it would be so long. I am going on my vacation now and won't be back until the Saturday before the 1st of September. I will take up this case after that. My decision may not be given until late in the fall."

STEVENS AGAINST EMERY.

Prohibition Leader Comes out Forcibly Against Fusion Nominer.

A. A. Stevens Esq., of Tyrone, who is a member of the state executive committee of the Prohibition party, was one of those who a few weeks ago, advocated the nomination of Lewis Emery Jr., the Democratic and Lincoln candidate for governor, for the same place on the Prohibition ticket to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of William H. Berry. Mr. Emery's recent letter of acceptance convinces Mr. Stevens, however, that the fusion candidate is not the one to lead the Prohibition forces. He notes that Mr. Emery takes no advanced ground whatever as to issues, and especially gives no promise to help along prohibitive legislation. Concluding Mr. Stevens, in his letter to the press, writes:

"Personally, I was of the opinion that the Prohibition party should have placed Mr. Emery on their ticket, and I have no doubt if they had done so and Mr. Castle in the second place that all the recent controversy by Prohibitionists, Lincoln-Republicans and Democrats would have been avoided. It is said that man proposes but God disposes. The antagonism of the Standard Oil company's interest to Mr. Emery—the antagonism of the Penrose machine organization—the antagonism of the Anti Saloon league—all combined would not have encompassed Mr. Emery's defeat; Mr. Emery's assaults upon himself when, in this enlightened age of Christian civilization, he declares that the church, the brewery, the school and hospital stood on a parity with each other and were each equally entitled to his influence and support, assured his political undoing. By such a declaration, he insulted the Christian people of the land and demonstrated that with such judgment as that he was unfit to be entrusted with the veto power of governor of this commonwealth. He drove from him and alienated a great body of the very element that would have supported him, and I include myself in that number.

"The Prohibition party, having taken the initiative in placing before the people of this state an ideal ticket, largely non-partisan, men who were tried, trusted and true, and placed them on a platform that echoed the demands of the citizens of the commonwealth, while both the Lincoln and Democratic parties, with all their professions of reform, ignored and repudiated the effort to unite the people along that line, there is nothing left for the Prohibition party to do but to fill its ticket as it has done in the past, with men who will be true to themselves, true to the state and to the people thereof leaving it to the people to decide, at the ballot box, whom they will have to rule over them."

FORECASTS FOR AUGUST.

Many Severe Storms Accompanied by Thunder.

Rev. Irl R. Hicke makes the following predictions for August in Word and Works:

The regular storm period lies between the 7th and 12th. It is central on the 9th and will culminate from the 8th to 11th. Great increase of temperature, with corresponding fall of the barometer, will pass like a wave from west to east during this period. Black, blustering clouds, thunder and high winds, with possibly cloudbursts in scattered localities may be expected, but we do not believe that a sufficiency of rain will be diffused generally over the country.

Increased and positive reactionary storms on the 15th, 16th and 17th. A rapid, but temporary rise of the barometer will follow these storms, with brief respite from August heat.

A regular storm period runs from the 19th to 23rd. The indications are that the heaviest and most general storms in August will occur during an next to Sunday the 19th to Wednesday the 22nd. We will name the 20th and the 21st as the crisis. These dates will also be at the center of a seismic period, hence a maximum of earthquake tendencies will be natural, centered on and about the 19th.

The best outlook for rains over the great rain belts and other sections in August is during this period, or from about 17th to 23rd. Violent summer storms need not surprise any reader at this time, and in the northwestern, open parts of the country reasonable care should be exercised against violent hail storms.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 25th, 26th and 27th. The last storm period for the month, 25th to 28th, will culminate in higher temperature, low barometer, cloudiness and more or less storms and rain over the country in general. August promises to come to an end with fair and cooler weather spreading eastwardly over the country. Upon the whole, we fear that the month will bring an excess of warmth, and that the rainfall, if diffused as it would have to be available to the general needs, will be hurtful below the average. Most gladly would we see this forecast fail, and instead an abundance of timely and fructifying rains; but remainder of this season, and the season of 1907, is the time for a general Jupiter drouth, minimum of rainfall, and unless the blending of the Saturn period with that of Jupiter works a radical change from the natural order, a drouth of greater or less severity will be encountered affecting the late crops of the present season and running through the season of 1907.

TEN MORE HEAT DEATHS

Heavy Thunder Storm Brings Relief to New York.

New York, Aug. 8.—A heavy thunder storm, accompanied by a deluge of rain, brought welcome relief from the torrid heat of the past three days. Lightning struck in several places in the city, but no serious damage was done.

While the temperature Tuesday was perceptibly lower than on Monday, the humidity remained high, and the cumulative effects of the heated term were shown in the record of 10 deaths attributed directly to the heat. The total deaths of the heat spell were 30.

Ten Heat Deaths In Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Aug. 8.—Ten deaths directly due to the excessive heat of the last few days were reported by the Philadelphia police to the coroner. More than two-score cases of prostration were taken care of by the various hospitals. The maximum temperature recorded Tuesday was 90 degrees, at 2.30 p. m., which is four degrees lower than Monday's maximum.

Two Dead In Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 8.—The deaths of two men are attributed to the intense heat of the past few days. The highest point reached by the thermometer Tuesday, however, was 91 degrees, and by the early part of the night there was a marked drop in the temperature that brought great relief.

Candidate For Governor Arrested.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 8—A. C. Jones, candidate for governor, was arrested at the state campaign meeting at Chester by orders of Mayor Hardin, who was seated on the platform. Jones had made a speech along with the other candidates for governor. When J. Fraser Lyon, candidate for attorney general, was delivering his speech, Jones interrupted him with a question. Lyon replied with a question. Jones then demanded to be heard, but the chairman refused the demand. Jones persisted in being heard, whereupon his arrest was ordered; two policemen coming from the audience and making the arrest. The incident was then closed. The case will not be pressed.

CUTTING CORN CAUSED DEATH

Woman Died of Blood Poisoning After Leg Was Amputated.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 8. — Mrs. Margaret Oliver, aged 62, of Berwick, died in a private hospital here from blood poisoning. Six weeks ago she pared a corn on a toe with a razor. Her foot began to swell, and when she was taken to the hospital the physicians decided to amputate her leg at the knee. This was done, but it proved to have been undertaken too late, as the poison had gotten above the knee. Two weeks ago the remainder of the leg was amputated in the hope that the poison would be headed off, but again the knife was found to have been applied too late. The poison had permeated her whole system.

President Grants Respite.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 6.—President Roosevelt granted a respite until November 1 of the execution of the death sentence in the case of Robert Sawyer and Arthur Adam, negroes, who are confined in the Wilmington, N. C., jail, having been convicted of murder and mutiny on the high seas. The stay was granted because of the confession of Henry Scott, who said on the scaffold just before he was hung, that he had killed the three officers and the cook of the schooner H. A. Berwind, which sailed from Philadelphia July 6, 1905, and for which the three were convicted. Another negro also implicated in the mutiny was killed by Scott.

Arrested For Train Wreck.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 8.—As a result of the investigation of the wreck of the Cincinnati and New York limited on the Pan Handle road in this city, in which two firemen were killed, L. B. Jones, employed in a tower near where the wreck occurred, was arrested by a deputy coroner and was locked up in jail in default of $2000 bonds. Jones was arrested at his home here on the technical charge of being a witness to murder and will be held until after the coroner's inquest. As far as has been investigated the deputy coroner's on the case express the opinion that the wreck was caused by negligence.

Want Mechanics For Canal Work.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—The government wants 500 skilled mechanics for service on the Panama canal. Henry A. Smith, employment agent of the Isthmian canal commission, arrived in Chicago to recruit these men. The class of men wanted are mechanics, boilermakers, blacksmiths, locomotive engineers, conductors and brakemen. Mr. Smith will remain in Chicago for three weeks to receive applications and as soon as the men qualify they will be furnished transportation and sent to Panama.

Alleged Embezzler Arrested.

Toronto, Aug. 8.—Clinton Wray, secretary of the Union Trust company, of Pittsburg, Pa., was arrested here, accused of having stolen over $125,000 of the company's funds. Wray consented to return and stand trial without extradition proceedings.

Woman Regained Sight in Very Strange Manner

Mrs. George L. Maneval of South Williamsport, who has been blind in her right eye for 13 years, regained her sight in a strange way a few days ago.

Mrs. Maneval was visiting at Milesburg and her nephew, a 14 year-old boy, was visiting at the same place. The boy got a shot gun and announced that he was going to blow up a hornets nest near the house.

Mrs. Maneval became much interested in the shotgun, as she had been quite a skilful shot when a girl. The nephew invited the woman to join in the sport with the hornets, and the latter promptly signified her willingness to aid in the slaughter of the pests. The boy and woman decided to indulge in a little preliminary practice with the gun, as it was known that the trigger was not in good working order.

After a shell had been slipped in the breech, the weapon was handed by the boy to Mrs. Maneval. As she raised the weapon toward her shoulder the hammer decended unexpectedly, discharging the weapon. As a result of the recoil, the tock of the gun struck the woman a terrific blow on the right side of the face and on the bridge of the nose. For a few minutes she was stunned. The blow from the gun stock bruised the face and cut a deep gash on the nose. The wound bled profusely for an alarming length of time. After the flow of blood had been staunched, Mrs. Maneval found that the sight had returned to her afflicted eye.

Physicians are mystified as to the cause of the strange phenomenum. A few practitioners think there is a probability that one of the lenses of the eye was displaced and that the blow the gun made caused the muscles of the eye to properly adjust the misplaced lense. It is quite likely the case will be discussed at a future meeting of the Lycoming County Medical society.

Epitaph in Shorthand on Dead Wife's Tomb.

A pathetic story centres round a large white marble tombstone in Hampstead Cemetery, the inscription on which is written in shorthand.

The symbols, which occupy but a small space on the stone, are composed of lead set into the marble. The full translation is as follows:

"In loving memory of Louisa, the dearly loved wife of William Day, who fell asleep in Jesus on February 21, 1905, aged 36.

"Weep not for me, my friend so dear,
I am not dead, but sleeping here.
In faith I lie, my grave you see,
Prepare yourself to follow me."

William Day yesterday told the history of the stone and its strange inscription.

"We had not been married long before my wife fell ill of consumption," he said "She grew rapidly weaker and weaker, and, not being able to move about, took up the study of shorthand to pass away the long days.

"She became so interested that she asked me to learn shorthand, too, and so day after day I sat at my wife's bedside while she gave me lessons. She had the most wonderful patience, and when too weak to speak would point out my mistakes by signs.

"I shall never forget those days," continued Mr. Day, "nor my wife's delight when I gained a speed certificate. Shortly afterward she died.

"I thought that the most fitting way to commemorate her was to have the inscription written in the symbols she loved so much."

A Stamp that walked.

An old gentleman, remarked the druggist, "bought some stamps from me one day last week, and after he had moistened one of them it slipped from his finger and fell to the floor. He did not bother to pick it up, and after affixing another stamp on his letter left the store, and I forgot all about the incident. A few minutes later my clerk came into the store from the rear room, and at once his face attracted attention, for he seemed to be troubled about something, while he gazed fixedly in a certain direction. Calling over to me he said, 'I'm sure I am not drunk, and I do not think I am crazy, but I do see something that I cannot understand.' I looked where he pointed, and distinctly saw the postage stamp moving up the side of the wall!

"The explanation is this: The stamp which the old gentleman dropped had fallen on a fly and stuck to it."

—If you don't just like everything you see in your home paper, go around the streets and howl. The editor is never supposed to make a mistake and of course cannot do so. Other people can, but the editor is ubiquitous, omniscient, omnipresent, omnipotent, "omniverous." If you can't see a good point, don't fail to see a bad one. If a thousand pleasant things are said of people, hunt for something unpleasant. If you don't find it howl some more; if you do, howl anyway. Never mind your own business; watch for something to find fault with in some other man's business, this will make you great.

—Country life has its drawbacks, but it has its great advantages which overcome them. True, those who live in the country are "Rubes" and "Farmers" and "hayseeds" to the cigarette smokers in town, but the boast of the business men in the world today is that they were born on a farm. Take away the surrounding evils that beset the young men or women on the threshold of life's journey in the city, and substitute the helpful influence of nature, and you fortify them for the sterner walks in life. The few things which they do not know about table etiquette and when it is proper to leave two visiting cards and when but one, they will catch onto much quicker than city boys and girls will learn to properly stoke the furnace or make good bread. No boy or girl need to be ashamed of living on the farm, for if they have taken advantage of what it has offered they are well fortified for after life.

—Beware of the seductive fudge! This is the warning, sounded by Food Commissioner Warren, who says that in hundreds of samples of this toothsome sweetmeat secured by him from various makers a dangerous mineral pigment is being substituted for chocolate. Indeed, fudge is not the only candy to come under the ban, as a result of startling disclosures which show that fully two-thirds of the cheaper candy is adulterated. Wholesale prosecutions will begun at once against manufacturers who, unmindful of the public weal, are using harmful ingredients in their products. Sulphur-dioxide is reported to be found in these confections. The drug, it is said, is used as a bleacher or preservative, and by medical experts it is claimed to be highly injurious. Amyl acetate and coal tar have also been found in many of the candies annalyed. Prof. C. B. Cochran, chief chemist of the Food Bureau, of West Chester, has received many samples of candies bought by special agents. Six of the samples submitted from the one city of Harrisburg were found to contain chemicals prohibited by law.

—Falling between two flat cars as they sped along at a rapid rate, and held in the firm grip of a fellow workman as he was being dragged along the rails directly in front of the wheels was the predicament of John Hammerman, an employee of the Pinkerton construction company on Wednesday night, near Jersey Shore. Hammerman, whose home is in the mountains near Aughenbachs, was a new brakeman on the job The cars were being skied along at a rapid rate when Hammerman ran between the cars to make a coupling. His foot caught on a tie and he fell on the rails directly between the cars. He would surely have been ground to death had it not been for the timely aid of another employe who was riding on one of the cars. Seeing the plight of Hammerman he reached down and took a firm grip on the fellow's arm, while with the free arm he signaled the engineer to stop. Hammerman was not seriously injured but was so frightened that he gave up his job.

The Late D. W. Clark.

The funeral of the late D. W. Clark, who died so suddenly at his home in Blanchard on Monday morning, took place from the family residence in that place on Wednesday afternoon, and was one of the largest ever held in that vicinity.

The deceased was a man most highly esteemed by his friends and neighbors, and well known throughout Center and Clinton counties; a man of rare business abilities, prominent in church affairs, well known and active in the fraternity of Odd Fellowship, an honored member of the fast diminishing Grand Army of the Republic, and interested in all local affairs tending to the betterment of the public schools, the public roads and the general welfare of the community at large.

Preceding the hearse that bore him to the grave were the members of his Post, few in number, growing old, but loyal to the country they fought for and to the comrade to whom they were now paying their last respects. The lodge of Odd Fellows turned out in a body, and by their numbers showed that the deceased was not forgotten by any of his brothers in the fraternity. The family and friends followed in carriages, and, as the long procession wended its way to the last resting place of this good man, the people along the streets stood with heads bowed in sorrow; all places of business were closed during the hours of the funeral and on all sides you heard nothing but words of eulogy and praise for the deceased was a friend of all.

300 PERSONS DROWNED

Italian Steamer Wrecked Off the Coast of France.

CAPTAIN COMITTED SUICIDE

Terrible Panic Ensued When Vessel Struck Reef and Began to Go Down. Survivors Are In a Terrible Condition.

Cartagena, Spain, August 6.—A terrible marine disaster occurred off Cape Palos. The Italian steamship Siro, from Genoa for Barcelona, Cadiz, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, with about 800 persons on board, was wrecked off Hormigas Island.

Three hundred emigrants, most of them Italians and Spaniards, were drowned.

The captain of the steamer committed suicide.

The bishop of Sao Pedro, Brazil, also was lost, and it is reported that another bishop is among the missing.

The remainder of the passengers and the officers and crew got away in the ship's boats or were rescued by means of boats sent to them from the shore. A number of fishermen who made attempts at rescue were drowned. Those rescued from the vessel are now at Cape Palos in a pitiable condition, being without food or clothing.

The Siro struck a rocky reef known as Bajos Hormigas, and sank soon after, stern first. Hormigas Island lies about two and a half miles to the eastward of Cape Palos.

Before he committed suicide the captain declared the steamer had 645 passengers on board, and that her crew numbered 127 men. The Sirio had 570 passengers when leaving Genoa, but additional Spanish passengers were taken on board at Barcelona, where the vessel touched a few hours before the disaster.

The steamer was threading a difficult passage through the Hormigas group, where the Bajos Hormigas reef is a continual menace to navigation. The vessel began to settle rapidly immediately she had struck, and a terrible scene of confusion and panic ensued on board. The fishermen along the coast sought to render every assistance in their power and sent out boats which brought many survivors ashore. Most of the officers and crew of the Sirio are among the saved.

From the broken narratives of the terror-stricken survivors it would appear that it was the intention of the captain of the Sirio, after leaving Barcelona, to call at Cadiz before proceeding to Brazil. The captain, in order to shorten the route and gain time, purposed to pass as close as possible to the dangerous rocky ledges surrounding the Hormiges Islands. Without any warning and while running at full speed, the Sirio crashed upon the rocks with terrific force. A few minutes later the stern of the vessel sank beneath the waves. The passengers were in a state of horror and panic. Crowds rushed forward, pushing each other and fighting for places in the bow of the boat. Many fell and were trampled to death. Dozens of men and women threw themselves into the sea. A young mother who was carrying her baby was advised to abandon the child and try to save herself alone. This she refused to do, declaring she preferred that they die together. Both eventually were picked up alive from the water.

The Italian emigrants, with knives in their hands and without regard for the women or children, fought with the greatest brutality for the possession of life buoys and boats. Many were killed or wounded, including several members of the crew, who were attacked by emigrants.

When the captain saw the vessel was lost and that the emigrants had captured the boat, he committed suicide by shooting with a revolver. The other officers lost their heads and there was nobody to direct the work of rescue.

Eye witnesses give awful pictures of the brutal panic on board. For half an hour the emigrants were masters of the situation. One report even states, the correspondent continues, that a group of emigrants approached one of the ship's boats which already was full and which was about to be launched, and dislodged the people, killing several with their knives. Just as they were about to occupy the boat themselves, another body of armed emigrants came up and a fierce fight for the possession of the lifeboat followed.

The survivors have gone into camp on the main square of the town at Cape Palos. Here harrowing scenes are enacted as the stricken families anxiously seek beloved members among the rescued. A mother who lost her three children went insane. The doctor of the Sirio gave up his wife and child as lost, but they were finally brought in by one of the rescuing boats, and the scene as this family was reunited was most affecting. One of the boats sent out by the fishermen brought in 24 passengers.

The condition of the survivors is most deplorable. They have lost everything and are without money, food or clothing. The maritime authorities of Cartegena have dispatched a tug to the scene, carrying relief supplies. The buildings of a circus and the poorhouse are being used as temporary quarters for the survivors.

An additional sadness is added to the catastrophe owing to the fact that a number of fishermen who were conducting rescuing operations were drowned in consequence of the overturning of a boat.

The captain of the Sirio just before he killed himself attributed the wreck to his own imprudence.

PLUNGED KNIFE IN MAN'S BACK

Youth, Probably Insane, Attempts Murder and Robbery On Street.

New York, Aug. 6. — While apparently crazed, John Carle, a homeless youth, crept up behind William C. Pearson, a travelling salesman, who was walking through West 23d street, and plunged a long knife into his back. As Pearson fell Carle sprang upon him and began rifling his pockets, but ran away when a dozen passers-by rushed upon him. Half a block away he was captured by a policeman, to whom he surrendered the knife, saying: "Here's what's left of it." The blade had been broken in half, leaving three inches in Pearson's back. Pearson was taken to the hospital, where it was found that he was probably mortally wounded.

When taken to court Carle, who was much emaciated and so weak that he could hardly stand, said: "I made up my mind to kill some one and rob him. I was hungry. I had eaten nothing since Friday night. I stole a fruit knife from a push cart in Park Row, and a few minutes before this man came along I made up my mind to kill the first man who passed. This man was the first, and I went for him."

Carle was committed to Bellevue hospital for mental examination.

TWO BATHERS DROWNED

One Seized With Cramps, and With Rescuer Both Went Down.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 6.—William and George Newcomb, two young men of this city, the former aged 27 and the latter 19 years, were drowned while in bathing at Bear Creek, a summer resort near here. Their parents live at the above place, and they were spending the day with them. They took out a boat and went in bathing. Both are good swimmers, but the younger of the two was seized with a cramp, and when the elder went to the rescue both went down. Their bodies were not recovered until several hours later.

Confessed Robbery.

Chicago, Aug. 6. — Harold Sawyer, alias James Murray, who was recently taken into custody with Dr. Jacob Murray on a charge of robbing the residence of Mrs. Edward L. Welsh, in Philadelphia, of $10,000 worth of jewelry, confessed to the police that he assisted "Dr." Svboda in robbing the home of George Cochran, of Philadelphia, of jewelry valued at $3000 on October 25, 1905. Sawyer says he was employed as assistant butler in the Cochran home.

BIG SOFT COAL DEAL

New Company Takes Over 44 Mines in Western Pennsylvania.

ARE CAPITALIZED AT $8,000,000

New Corporation Will Control 125,000 Acres of Coal Lands, 1000 Coke Ovens and 1000 Private Railroad Cars.

Scranton, Aug. 6.—Clarence D. Simpson, senior partner in the firm of Simpson & Watkins, the coal operators, of this city, gave out complete details of the organization of an $8,000,000 corporation known as the Pennsylvania, Beech Creek and Eastern Coal and Coke company, which has acquired control of 44 western Pennsylvania soft coal mines and a number of coke interests and some electric light and water companies, in a number of which Simpson and Watkins held a controlling interest.

Mr. Simpson said that for some time negotiations have been pending with New York and Boston capitalists who have been desirous of securing the properties for the purpose of investment, and who requested Simpson & Watkins to retain some of their interests in order that the new corporation may have the benefit of their experiences in the mining and coke industries. It is possible that the firm will be at the head of the new corporation. The firm acquired the control of the coal and coke interests now sold about eight years ago, and their value has more than trebled in that time. They include the Pennsylvania Coal and company, Coke company, Webster Coal and Coke company, North River Coal and Wharf company and a number of electric light and water companies.

The new corporation will be a most powerful institution, with immense resources and its command, and will have its headquarters in New York.

The company controls approximately 125,000 acres of coal lands containing over 900,000,000 tons of coal, with 44 going coal mines, over 1000 coke ovens, 1000 private railroad cars, extensive docks at Port Liberty, N. J., and the business already established in distributing coal throughout Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and New England.

TO OVERRIDE LIGHTING VETO

Wilmington, Del., Street Directors Wrathy Over Mayor's Action.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 6. — Mayor Wilson's veto of the franchise granted to the Commercial Heat, Light & Power company to break the gas-lighting monopoly here, has aroused public anger. Street Director John G. Gray, one of the men who voted for the franchise, was indignant and asserted that he and Director Thomas H. Melvin would vote to pass the franchise over the mayor's veto.

Every effort will be made by the corporations now in the lighting field to prevent the franchise being granted over Mayor Wilson's veto, and already it is reported that powerful interests are centering their influence upon Director Melvin to try to get him not to vote for the franchise.

"I believe that Mr. Melvin and I will pass the franchise over the mayor's veto," declared Director Gray. "It is the greatest outrage ever committed in this city."

Serious Fire at Reading Colliery.

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 6.—There was a serious fire in the East Pine Knot colliery of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron company, near this place. The fire started in the boiler house, and before it was extinguished a nest of six boilers were rendered useless, and several small buildings near the boiler house were destroyed. With the assistance of the Pottsville fire companies the East Pine Knot company was able to save the new breaker, which has not yet been placed in operation. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

MURDER AT VINELAND, N. J.

Nicholas Berti Shot and Killed By Alexander Cordella In Quarrel.

Vineland, N. J., Aug. 6.—Nicholas Berti, aged 30 years, a well-known and popular resident of this city, was shot and instantly killed by Alexander Cordella, a prominent farmer living near this place. Both men had been to a party, and Berti accompanied Cordella to the latter's home. Near the house the men quarreled, which resulted in Cordella shooting Berti with a shot gun which he procured in a barn.

Cordella fled and took refuge in a vineyard, where he was found by detectives. He confessed to having shot Berti, but said he did not want to be hung. "Give me a knife or a revolver," he pleaded, "and they can bury me at the same time they do Berti."

Some of Berti's friends tried to take the prisoner from the officers as they were going into the jail. There was a free fight, in which several men were hurt, but the officers succeeded in getting their prisoner into the lock-up.

ROOSEVELTS AGAINST AIGRETTE

Sympathize With Efforts to Stop Sale of White Heron Plumes.

New York, Aug. 6.—In a letter written by President Roosevelt to William Dutcher, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, the president, speaking for both himself and Mrs. Roosevelt, expresses hearty sympathy with the efforts the society is making to prevent the sale and use of white heron plumes, commonly known as "aigrettes," which are worn on women's hats. The president's letter was as follows:

"Permit me, on behalf of both Mrs. Roosevelt and myself, to say how heartily we sympathize, not only with the work of the Audubon societies generally, but particularly in their efforts to stop the sale and use of the so-called 'aigrettes'—the plumes of the white herons. If anything, Mrs. Roosevelt feels even more strongly than I do in the matter."

CHAMBERLAIN CRITICALLY ILL

So-Called Attack of Gout Something Much More Serious.

London, Aug. 6.—In the parliamentary lobbies a rumor is current that Joseph Chamberlain's health is in a most precarious condition. It has been openly said that after the fatigues of the Birmingham birthday celegration he had a fit and for some days before his son Austen's marriage he was very ill.

While he is ostensibly confined to his bed with an attack of gout, it is known that Mrs. Chamberlain (whose mother, Mrs. Endicott, is with her), scarcely leaves him. The hour's drive a day which the doctor prescribes is the sole relaxation she permits herself.

Out Doors,

Many women on farms enjoy less the beauties of out doors than their city sisters. Often the shade trees are not near the house and the bare, hot surroundings are not inviting. Where shade is not convenient to the house the rustic summer house should be a fixture on the farm, or a cheaply thrown-up summer house, that can be covered quickly by rapid growing vines. We can at least have a sheltered retreat, securely roofed from sun and showers, where we can enjoy the fresh air and the attractions of surrounding landscape.

A summer house will delight both owner and visitor of the home, and will lead one to the out doors, when all other attractions fail. There seems to be a certain uniformity in the construction of all summer houses when built of the material known as "rustic work," but we will discover multitudinous forms, simple and picturesque within our means, and we will find it one of the greatest blessings on the farm. A small summer house, an arbor or a vine-covered seat near the garden would make it more inviting, more livable.

When a woman suffers from depressing weakness, she then keenly realize how helpless—how thoroughly worthless she is. Dr. Shoop has brought relief to thousands of such women. He reaches diceases pecular to women in two, direct specific ways—a local treatment known by druggist everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Night Cure, and a constitutional or internal prescription called Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is applied locally, and at night. It works while you sleep. It reduces inflamation it stops discharges, it heals, it soothes, it comforts, it cures.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative (tablets or liquid form) is a constitutional, nerve tissue tonic. It brings renewed strength lasting ambition and vigor to weak, lifeless women.

These two remedies, singly, or used together, have an irresistible, positive helpful power. Try them a month and see. Sold by Greens Pharmacy Co.

Bearing Another's Burden.

That it is not impossible to ring a new change on woman's aversion to telling her correct age has been proved by the rector of a New York church.

He does not appear to be more than fifty years old, but declared to an inquiring parishioner that he was seventy-five, and added, "I shall be seventy-seven my next birthday.

"The other evening," he explained, "my wife and I computed that our combined ages foot up to one hundred years. Now, of course, no lady is ever over twenty-five years old, so to keep peace in the family I suppose I must say I'm seventy-five."

"But why will you be seventy-seven your next birthday?"

"Because my wife's birthday and mine happen to fall on the same date, and,—with a sigh of resignation—"of course I shall have to shoulder both of them."

Cars of Lehigh Valley Transit Company Collided While Running at High Speed and Motorman Was Killed at His Post.

Allentown, Pa., Aug. 6.—Two heavily loaded trolley cars of the Lehigh Valley Transit company collided head-on at Hofford's chapel, three miles south of Allentown, killing Motorman J. W. Esser and seriously injuring 10 other persons. One car was running from Philadelphia to Allentown and the other from Allentown to Macungie. When the Macungie car reached the turnout beyond Hofford's chapel, the motorman threw the signal, giving the car from Philadelphia a clear track. With the grade in his favor, Motorman Esser pulled out of the switch and collided with the Macungie car, which was running rapidly in order to gain the turnout ahead. Both motormen stuck to their posts, and Esser still had his hand on the brake when released from the wreck. He died an hour later at a hospital.

The injured are: Miss Marguerite Ferguson, Washington, N. J., right tibia fractured; William H. Manley, Catasauqua, right elbow fractured; Martin Flynn, Michael G. Finnegan, Minnie Kindt, Hannah Donohue, all of Allentown; Mrs. James Rader, of Siegfried; Mrs. Frederick, of Treichlers; Motorman Herbert Fritz and Conductor Charles Jones, bruised and cut by flying glass.

Esser was a married man and lived at Souderton.

General Manager Hall places the blame for the accident on Fritz, who, he says, disregarded the signal.

NEGRO CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Appeals to American People to Aid Them.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The Negro Young People's Christian and Educational Congress brought its sessions to a close here by a meeting at Convention Hall. Numerous addresses were delivered, mainly regarding the work necessary to raise the standard of the race.

The last act of the congress, at which approximately 6000 people were present, was to issue a lengthy address to the American public, in which the hope is expressed "that an aroused public conscience may be directed to America's most troublesome and complex problem—a harmonious adjustment of the races."

After directing the energies of the colored people to the Christian training and nurturing of the young, and to greater evangelical effort towards spiritual awakening, the address continues:

"We appeal to the friends of humanity everywhere to aid and encourage him in the development of character and the acquisition of intelligence, thrift and frugality as means to reach a higher level of life."

The address characterizes as a "mischievous fallacy the doctrine that the white race voluntarily imposes taxes upon itself for the education of the negro."

Shot Each Other to Death On Street.

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 6.—In the streets of Chadwick, Mo., Charles Freeman and Robert Keene, 18 years old, shot each other to death with revolvers. Suit recently was brought by Freeman, charging Keene with assaulting Freeman's daughter. When the men met on the street both drew revolvers and fired. Freeman was shot in the forehead and in the left breast. Keene was shot three times in the heart. Both men were dead when the spectators ceached them.

Of late years he has devoted himself chiefly to the chemistry of hygiene and food practice. FOUR RUNAWAYS CAUGHT

Altoona Lads Found Huddled Together In Freight Car.

Greensburg, Pa., Aug. 6.—Huddled together in a gondola car, four Altoona boys, James, Keiser, 16 years old; Charles Adams, 74 years old; Glennie Orr, 12 years old, and Russell Conben, 17 years old, were arrested at Trafford City and taken to the county jail by a Pennsylvania railroad detective. All are runaways, Keiser and Adams being under $800 bail for having stolen a horse at Altoona two weeks ago. The boys left Altoona on a through freight train and railroad detectives all along the Pittsburg division were notified to be on the lookout. Keiser's father died and the officers were especially diligent in their search for the runaways.

Fourth Victim Is Dead.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 6. — Robert Edward Pearce, 3 years old, who was shot by the negro, Elmer Dempster, died of hemorrhages, caused by the bullet wound. The child was wounded at the time Dempster killed Mrs. Pearce and two others of her children. Dempster, who is in jail here when told of the death of his fourth victim, manifested no interest in case. The death of the child has kindled the bitter feeling against negro in the neighborhood of Pearce home, but there is no fear violence felt by the jail officials.

RUSSIAN STRIKE DYING OUT

Movement Met With Only Slight Response Outside St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 6.—The fate of the general strike, which, although it has affected close to 70,000 men in St. Petersburg, has met with only slight response in other sections of Russia, probably will be decided with an adverse expression of public opinion. The lack of union among the leaders of the proletariat organizations is playing against the siccess of the movement.

The railroad men, upon whom the success of the entire movement depends, are still working full time.

The council of workmen's reputies met secretly at Terioki, Finland. The deputies were so incensed at the timidity displayed by the railroad men that they decided to resort, if necessary, to the blowing up of bridges and the destruction of the roadbeds, to bring the transportation service to a standstill. Representatives of all the revolutionary parties and emissaries from Moscow, Kieff, Riga, Odessa and other cities were present at the meeting.

The first break in the ranks of the St. Petersburg strikers occurred when the printers decided to return to work. The employes of street car lines and river ferries have resumed work.

Wed, But Didn't Know it.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., August 2nd.—That they have been married for eight days was not discovered until yesterday by Joseph Genero and Rachel Gueirre, of Berwick. They came here eight days ago for a marriage license, but being confused and their knowledge of English limited, it was understood they also desired to be married and the deed was done. When they went to the priest yesterday to arrange for an elaborate ceremony, followed by a big celebration, and presented their papers, he told them they were married. They now want to be married over again in order to make it appear like a real wedding

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghampton, N. Y., on every bottle.

August.

There certainly is a note of sadness in the thought that summer is drawing to a close and will soon be a thing of the past. The delicate flowers of spring and summer, violets, roses and lillies, have given place to dahlias, asters and cannas and gorgeous hued flowers of the autumn.

Goldenrod and yarrow dot the hills and meadows where but a short time ago daisies and clover nodded their bright heads. The grasses are all dying, the golden harvest has been gathered in, the autumnal fruits are beginning to ripen, the heavy night dews and morning fogs are here, and the ceaseless song of the crickets and katydid accompanied by the shrill voiced locust seem to chant funeral dirge as the summer silently but steadily passes away.

As July was named in honor of Julius Caesar, August took her title from Augustus Caesar first emperor of Rome and grand nephew of Julius. He was loved by the people, and the beneficient measures which marked his might were mainly of his individual credit. He encouraged agriculture, arts and literature and was himself an author. He numbered among his friends the celebrated poets and scholars of his day. His death plunged the whole Roman world into morning. The people numbered him among the gods, and erected temples and shrines to his memory so that taken all in all it would seem that August has a most worthy name. It was so named by a decree of the senate because some of the most important and fortunate events of Augustus Ceasar's life occurred during this month.

The New York World

The Thrice-a-Week World hopes to be in 1909 a better paper than it has ever been before, and it has made its arrangements accordingly. Its news service covers the entire globe, and it reports everything fully promptly and accurately. It is the only paper, not a daily, and which will keep you as completely informed of what is happening throughout the world.

The Thrice-a-Week World is fair in its political reports. You can get the truth from its colums, whether you are Republican or Democrat, and that is what you want.

A special feature of the Thrice-a-Week World has always been its serial fiction. It publishes novels by the best authors in the world, novels which in book form sell for $1.50 apiece, and its high standard in this respect will be maintained in the future as in the past.

The Thrice-A Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and Bellefonte Republican together for one year for $1.50.

CAN'T BE SEPARATED,

Some Bellefonte People Have Learned How To Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers.

You can't separate them.

And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney pills make strong, healthy kidneys.

Mrs. Nancy Davis, of 246 East Logan Street, says: "I suffered a bad fall some years ago when living in Rochester. I thought at first that I had broken my back. I was unable to get up without assistance and from that time I suffered for years with a weak back and excruciating pains through the loins and through the small of my back. Sometimes I was completely prostrated and helpless. Doctors and medicines failed to help me and the pain continued until I got Doan's Kidney pills. I took only a few doses before I began to feel better and when I had continued using them for a while I was thoroughly cured. My back regained its strength and the pain left me. I have had no return of the trouble since."

Publish Assessments.

Publicity of the assessment lists at least once in three years is now coming to be regarded as the only solution of inequitable taxation. The publication of these lists in newspapers would stop a great deal of favortism. On this question the Wilkesbarre Record says:

"If the assessors' lists were spread before all the people, so that all property owners could make a general comparison of valuations, and the small property owner could see at a glance what the extensive property holder who is supposed to have a pull is paying, there is no doubt that if there are inequalities and glaring favoritism there would be a united protest and a demand for equalization—such a demand as could not be ignored. Then if the whole community instead of a few citizen were informed of the assessment conditions that are supposed to exist, the chances are that in a short time the properly assessed taxpayers would not pay the taxes that the favored property owner should pay. All that is needed to raise the issue and to arouse the taxpayers who contribute their just share to the support of government is a general publication of the inequalities."

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

--Money won't get a man into heaven but it will often get him out of jail.

—Some people are of no more account than a thermometer on a pleasant day.

—Edward L. Hoy entertained a party of fourteen men at the Nittany Country Club over Sunday.

—The trouble with the fellow who goes up like a rocket and comes down like a stick is that he generally hurts somebody in his fall.

—Mr. Herbert Gray entertained about 20 fair belles of Salona at Hecla Park Wednesday. We doubt not that Herbert had a good time.

—When a man who feels blue goes out and fills up on red liquor the result will naturally be that dark brown taste. Any mixer of colors will tell you that.

—A slight wreck between a freight train and an engine at Mill Hall Junction delayed the incoming passenger train Friday morning about three hours.

—There was a total eclipse of the moon Friday morning visible only in the western states. It lasted one hour and forty-two minutes. A partial eclipse of the sun will occur in the evening on August 19 visible only in the far north.

—This morning's paper contains two interesting items from Atlantic City. One of them says the girls are going in bathing in their bare legs, and the other refers to a man with a broken neck. You can guess if you want to, how the man broke his neck.

—Hereafter the "opened by mistake" excuse will be a mistake that will cost two hundred dollars. The postoffice department has ruled that mail must be looked at before leaving the office, and that any letter put in your box by mistake must be returned before leaving the postoffice under a penalty of $200 for failure to do so.

—There seems to be a slight misunderstanding as to who is eligible to be voted for as Queen of the Midway. For those who are interested we are requested to state that any young lady who is working for the success of the Midway or taking any part in it, is eligible. This includes girls from Bellefonte, and the county also any guests who are in the town and taking part.

—The Bush House is having a new wall built along side of the hotel facing the creek. This will be great improvement on the old, which continually leaked and flooded the cellar every time the creek swelled to any height at all. Proprietor Daggett should be complimented on the way he keeps his hotel up to scratch. It being one of the best equipped in Central Pennsylvania.

—An enforcement of the Sunday blue laws is extending. The Ministerial association of Altoona have clapped the lid down on the dealers at Lakemont. After those who smoked, chewed, drank soda, coco cola, moxie, etc., and ate ice cream on Sunday, could no longer satisfy their cravings in Altoona, they went to the park, but now that is also denied them. The Ministerium represented by Rev. H. C. Broughton made information before Alderman Stephens, charging six stand keepers at the park with violation of the Sunday laws.

—Rev. W. A. Roulston who preached in the Presbyterian church Sunday is a Scotch Canadian, the son of the minister in the Canadian Presbyterian Church. He is a graduate of Auburn Theological Seminary, and is pastor of the Presbyterian church in Bellevue, one of Pittsburg's finest resident suburbs. Mr. Roulston is regarded as one of the strongest of the younger preachers of western Pennsylvania and his presence was greatly enjoyed by all who heard him.

—A remarkable old man is William Fouse, of Drab, Blair county. He is 81 years old and never wore stockings until three years ago. He has never in his life worn underclothing, gloves or mittens, never used tobacco in any form, and was never sick an hour until his 80th year, when he had a slight attack of grippe from which he soon recovered. Last fall he ploughed forty acres, harrowed it three times and drilled it in wheat, husked 1,000 and hauled in 2,000 bushels of corn without any assistance whatever. Along with the above work he did the other fall work such as raising potatoes, hauling out manure and cutting off corn. He rarely stops for rain and says that a good ducking does him more good than anything else. Summer and winter, regardless of snow, rain or shine he bathes his feet in eighteen inches of water in a spring a short distance from his house, three times a week. His home is one of the best farms in Morrison's Cove.

—A free lecture is generally worth just about the price of admission.

—Strange as it may seem the collection plate is always present when it is passed.

—No improvement has been made on the kiss old Adam invented in the garden of Eden.

—Charles R. Kurtz editor of the Centre Democrat, is having his house and office repainted.

—William Bachman and Miss Mary E. Kline, both of Lemont, Centre county were married at Lock Haven Wednesday afternoon by Alderman John P. Anthony.

—The huckleberry and blackberry season is oow at its height and many pickers are now roving over the mountains and through the vales in search of this luscious fruit.

—S. A. Keefer, now stationed at Bellefonte has been promoted to the position of assistant to the general manager of the American Lime and Stone Company. Congratulations, Sidney.—Tyrone Times.

—The ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church will hold a New England supper in the chapel Tuesday August 14th. They will also have aprons, candies and cake for sale. All are invited to attend.

—A Glen Campbell lady, who had tried most all kinds of patent medicines without avail, until she tried a local druggist's tonic, which she wrote him as follow: "Dear Sir: Before taking your medicine I was too weak to spank the baby, but now I can lick my husband. Heaven bless you."

—The reunion of Blair county's ex-residents of Centre county will be held in Glasgow's grove, near Bellwood, on Saturday, August 18, when all the former residents of Centre county and their friends are invited. It will be good music, and addresses by Prof. I. C. M. Ellenberger, of Tyrone, and others.

—A very pretty lawn fete was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barker on Thomas Street, Tuesday night. The lawn was string with many colored lanterns which was very affective and imposing. Every guest enjoyed himself to the utmost and went away wishing that he or she might be able to attend another such affair when entertained by such charming host and hostess.

—Wednesday while Philip Beezer was driving a pair of young yoked steers towards his slaughter-house near Roopesburg they quite unpleasantly butted-into a five foot well where they received quite a cool reception. The excitement of raising them caused about 30 men together. In the end they were unceremoniously dumped on terra-firma where they soon got over the effects of their sudden plunge.

—A man was heard to remark on the streets the other day that he would as soon believe a man evolved from a camel as to believe he sprang from a monkey. We don't. The camel will work seven days without drinking, and a man occasionally drinks seven days without working. If one is to judge by habits, he might be led to believe that man sprang from a goat, for a goat is the only animal that chews tobacco, wears whiskers and is inclined to occasionally "butt in."

—The Unionville correspondent of the Centre Democrat writes: The large saw mill of Spotts Bros. that had been in operation on the old tannery site for several years, has been removed to the new lumber job on the Fisher farm. It is erected in the large orchard across Bald Eagle creek and can be seen from our town. And the hum of the saw as it wades through logs affords very pleasing music to the ear. Sherman Spotts is engineer, and his brother Ellery is the sawyer. It is operated by F. D. Beyer & Co., of Tyrone and it will probably take them three years to cut all the timber they have purchased on the Fisher estate.

—A Johnstown woman has "queered" herself with her neighbors, says the Tribune, and she will have to conduct herself mighty well if she desires to recover their good will. She is the only person in the whole community who owns a cherry seeder, and right at the beginning of the cherry season she left town, returning only Saturday evening. For a time the neighbor women seriously contemplated breaking in and taking the seeder—they all knew where it was, on the third nail to the right as you go into the pantry, but later they concluded that a woman was mean enough to run away at such a critical time would be mean enough to take the law on them if they exercised their rights and went in and took the seeder.

—The fine large barn on the farm of Uriah Gates, two miles west of Warriorsmark, was struck by lightning at 12:50 o'clock Friday afternoon and was burned to the ground. The structure was 100 feet long and 50 feet wide and Mr. Gates had placed a new roof upon it, at a cost of $400, only two weeks ago. All his crops were stored in the building, including forty two loads of hay, a big crop of wheat and a large quantity of old grain. There were also a number of farming implements in the barn. The building with crops, implements and other contents, was completely consumed. Only the stock was saved, and the animals escaped narrowly enough. Mr. Gates estimates his loss at $5,000 and his insurance is small

THE BUSINESS MEN'S PICNIC.

The Final Arrangements for the Big Day—Committee Banquet at the Brockerhoff.

The executive committee of the Business Men's Picnic Association of Centre and Clinton Counties met at the Brockerhoff House in Bellefonte Thursday evening from 5:30 to 8 P. M., and the final arrangements for the big Business Men's Picnic at Hecla Park on Thursday August 16th were held.

Both county's were fully represented at the gathering. Those present were the following. Capt. S. H. Bennison, Abdera; R. H. Stuart, Island; O. E. Miles, Milesburg; P. D Foster, State College; T. J. Smull, Mackeyville; George W. Mason, A. L. Merrick, G. W. Fredericks, P. P. Rittman, A. L. Lichtenwalner, C. J. Sigmund, G. W. A. McDonald, C. F. Brown, of Lock Haven; John D. Sourbeck, Harry Otto, John I. Olewine, Hammond Sechler, DeLaun Stuart, A. C, Mingle, Robert Cole, Frank Warfield, John N. Bullock, J. C. Meyer, J. Will Conley, Sidney Krumrine, Hard P. Harris, F. E. Naginey and Robert F. Hunter.

The press of the two counties was represented as follows: C. E. Oberheim, of the Lock Haven Democrat; C. S. Sniter, of the Lock Haven Express; C. H. Bressler, Clinton County Times; T. H. Harter, Keystone Gazette; George R. Meek, Democratic Watchman and Earl C. Tuten of the Daily News and Republican.

The meeting was presided over by the new president, A. C. Mingle, of Bellefonte, Secretary, J. C. Meyer, called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting. J. W. Merry, of Beech Creek was re-instated as a member of the executive committee having dropped out for the last two years.

The report of the different committees was next called for. Mr. Meyer of the Finance committee reported that $750.00 had been raised for amusements and other picnic expenses.

J. D. Sourbeck, chairman of the Amusement committee reported that a base ball game had been arranged for the afternoon between Patton and Milton. These teams are very strong and will put up a great game of ball. The Lock Haven people protested and wanted the Auto team of Lock Haven and the Renova team to play this game They were to late however as the contracts with Patton and Milton had been signed. It was finally decided that the grounds should be offered to Lock Haven and Renova for a morning game, they to receive the gate receipts and pay their own expenses. It is not known whether they will accept or not. The matter was left in the hands of the Amusement committee. There will also be a game of Water base ball on the lake which promises to be quite interesting. Then there will be the usual shooting match and a splendid display of fireworks in the evening.

The music committee reported in favor of one orchestra of eight pieces and one band of twenty pieces and recommended the Germania orchestra of Lock Haven and the Coleville band of Bellefonte, the orchestra to receive $40 and the band $50.00. The report of the committee was duly accepted. The band and orchestra are to be in charge of the committee and to play whenever ordered to do so by the committee.

In order to accommodate the people from Penns Valley who want to attend the picnic, a special train will leave Bellefonte at 9 P. M. going as far as Coburn, thus giving the people of that locality a good chance to spend the day at Hecla and get home in good season at night. The committee had to put up a guarantee of $62.00 in order to secure the train but they felt that it was money well invested.

T. H. Harter of the closing committee reported that it was the general intention of all business places in Bellefonte and Lock Haven to close all or the greater part of the day. It was suggested by one of the committee that the hotels close their bars from 12 o'clock on and thus give their employees a chance to enjoy a day's outing at the park.

All the business having been transacted and the committee being tired and hungry from their arduous duties, they hailed with delight the magic words, "supper is served" and lost no time in getting into the dining room where a sumptuous banquet awaited them.

It was a course dinner consisting of soft shelled crabs, spring chicken and many other delicacies. It was splendidly cooked and elegantly served and certainly heartily enjoyed by the 31 guests present. At the close of the dinner Mr. McDonald of Lock Haven arose and called for a motion, extending a vote of thanks to Mr. Frank Warfield for his generosity in providing this choice repast. The motion was at once made and promptly carried.

The meeting then adjourned to meet again at Hecla Park on Thursday August 16 the day of the picnic when they will receive in the success attained the reward for their labors.

—The difference between right and wrong depends largely upon your lawyer.

Reward for the Capture of Robbers.

The capture of the two young men who robbed the store and postoffice at Curtin Station, Centre county, some few weeks ago is no doubt still fresh in the minds of this vicinity. There is, it has been learned, a standing reward of $250 for the capture of any person or persons for robbing a postoffice. C. H. Long, George C. and Charles A. Snyder are the parties who made the arrest and are therefore entitled to the reward. They placed their claim in the hands of Sidney D. Furst, of this city who took the matter up with the postmaster general, who in turn informed Mr. Furst that Officer Montgomery, of Bellefonte, had put in a claim for it. Mr. Montgomery has no license to put in a claim, as he merely took the prisoners from Mill Hall to Bellefonte after they had been arrested by Long and Snyder. There is not any doubt but that the proper parties will receive the money.—Friday's Lock Haven Democrat.

Planned Horrible Death for Child.

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 7th.—Unable to leave the Blair county almshouse without taking her infant child with her, Francesco Sanelio, a young Italian girl, but recently arrived in this country, this morning stuffed pins in the childe mouth with the evident intention of ridding herself of the incumbrance.

The child's agonized cries aroused attaches of the almshouse, and the child's life was saved.

The girl came to the almshouse several weeks ago and gave birth to a child. She expressed a desire to leave a few days ago, and was informed that she would be compelled to take the child along. She has been brooding over the matter since that time, culminating in an attempt to kill the child. The woman is under arrest.

Governor's Stenographer weds.

William E. Seel, a merchant, and Miss Jennie Fauble were married Saturday evening at St. Patrick's rectory, Harrisburg, by Father Hasset. The bride for twelve years was stenographer in turn for Governors Hastings, Stone and Pennypacker. Miss Fauble is a daughter of M. Fauble, the Bellefonte clothier, and is held in high esteem in this place, by all. The marriage was kept a secret until Saturday when the friends of the pair learned of it through announcements issued by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Fauble, of Bellefonte, parents of the bride. Mr. Seel is a wholesale liquor merchant of Harrisburg. Mr. and Mrs Seel have gone on a wedding trip to Nova Scotia.

Death of Joseph Hollabaugh.

On Friday evening about 8 o'clock the angle of death entered the Hollabaugh home at Coleville and called hence to the spirit land the life of Joseph Hollabaugh, the bright little son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hollabaugh. Death was due to congestion of the brain after a brief illness. Joseph was born in Coleville and was aged 2 years and 5 months.

The funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the house, Rev. J. Allison Platts officiated and interment was made in the Union cemetery.

Head-on Collision.

A head on collision between two freight trains on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad occurred Friday morning about one mile west of Mill Hall station, in which six freight cars and two engines were badly damaged. The cause of the collision was evidently a mix-up in the orders as the extra east bound had orders to pass local at Mill Hall, while local was given a clear track to Beech Creek. No one was injured but travel was delayed until some time in the afternoon. Passengers were transferred at the wreck from all trains east and west until the wreckage had been cleared away.
